WARREN AREA JOINT BOARD TO ACT ON NEW HIGH SCHOOL PLANS MONDAY

A recommendation to accept the final plans for the new high school will be presented by the buildings and grounds committee when the Warren Area Joint School Board meets at Beaty Monday evening. The special committee conferred with the architects October 27 to go over the completed plans and arrive at the recommendation.

The final decision is now in the hands of the 47-member Joint Board.

A meeting of the Joint School Committee is also scheduled to follow the board meeting.

At the Warren Borough School Board session last Monday a resolution was passed authorizing the formation of the Warren Area High School Authority for the purpose of building the new high school building. This issue will also face a decision at the meeting Monday night.

Borough members also authorized necessary changes for September 1959 after a study of this year's elementary enrollment indicated implications caused by crowded areas.

The superintendent, Dr. Carl E. Whipple, was congratulated on his election as vice president of the Pennsylvania Association of District Superintendents. He was selected to the position at a meeting held last week in Buckhill Falls.

On recommendation of the finance committee the board approved paid bills amounting to $97,116.08. This figure included $3,800 for fire insurance; $2,466 for group life insurance; $39,464, operating expenses; and $43,140, the first payment to the Authority for the new high school building.

Other payments were $453, orders written during the month; $690, substitute teachers employed; $335, recreation services; $339, special services; and $82, janitors' overtime. A loan of $500 was made to the special milk program to allow bills totaling $1,334 to be paid.

Receipts in the amount of $2,522 were reported from the state as reimbursement for the 1957-58 health program cost. This is shared with the Warren Joint Area School Board.

Approval was given to the request of the elementary teachers to give pupils their report cards on the last day of school.

THE CHAIN GANG. Mrs. Chester Munksgard (l.) and Mrs. Burdette Hunter had their own idea of how to keep the clan under control on Halloween and have lots of fun at the same time.

This is how they appeared at the Jaycee Parade Friday night. As you see them--Mrs. M., Gregg M., Scott H., Jeff M., Jim 'H., Jeff H., Chet M., Jon M., Joel H., Jim M., and Mrs. H.

Some 200 people participated in the parade around Warren Halloween night and then congregated at the Youth Canteen for the judging of winners and serving of refreshments.

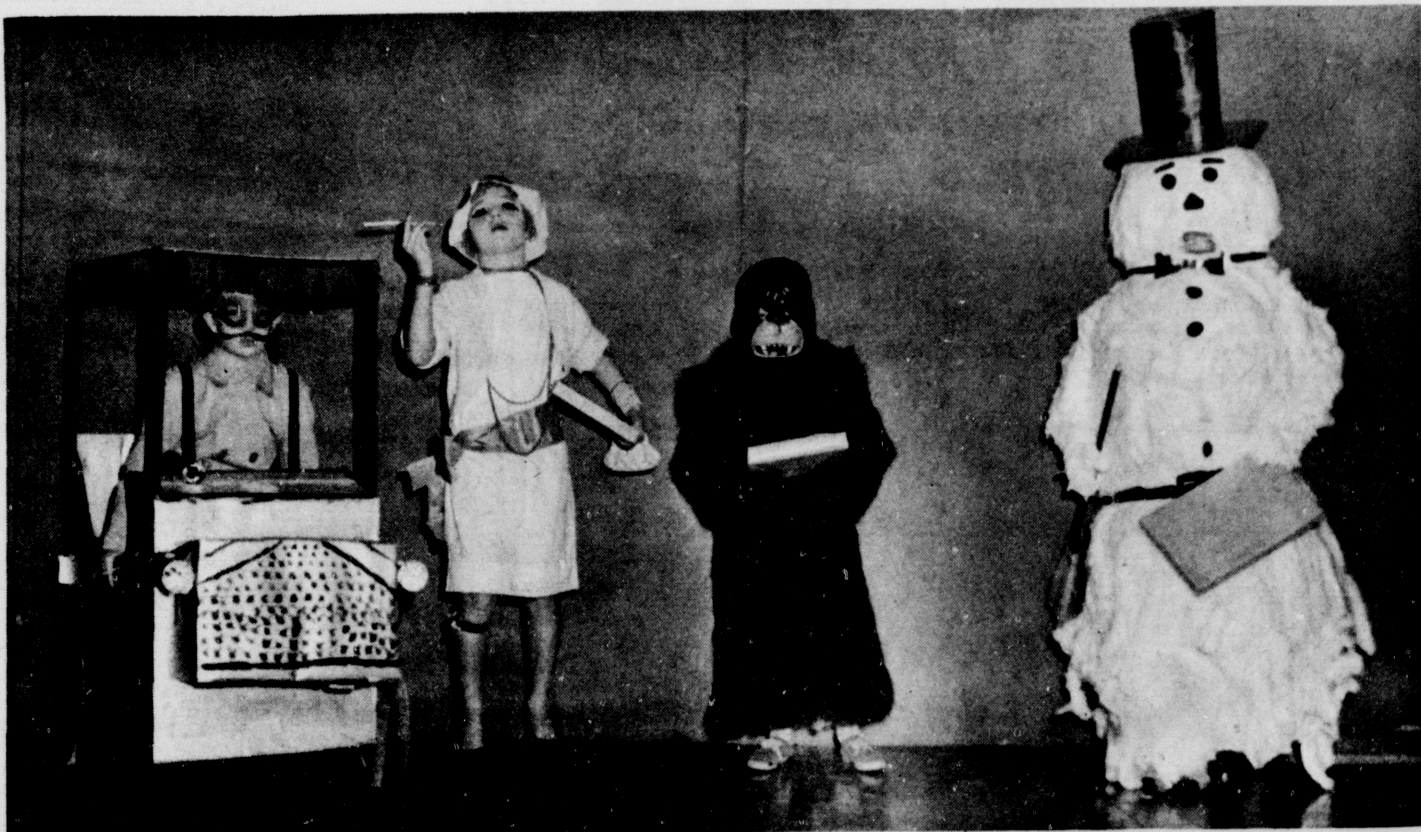

The winners in the various classifications were: Pre-School--Debbie Clark, Danny Clark, Linda Ward, Douglas Ward, Emily Atwood, Linda Wilcox and Delphine Johnson, Grade School--Cathy Peterson, Randy

Evans, Craig Marshall, Susan Gustafson, John Gross, Sonia Atwood, Joni and Jeffie Schneck, Jerry Nicholas, and Chuck Armstrong. High School--Linda Wright, John DiPiero, Neva Schwitzer, Louise Stockdale, John Preston, Donna Preston, Barbara Preston. Adult--Ann Simmons, Don Wood.

The Jaycee chairman of the project was Ronald Howard.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

THE VETERAN'S PLIGHT

One of the inadequacies that stands out prominently in our American society is the expensive and inconsistent manner in which we handle our war veterans. Why an American Legion? Why a VFW? Why any service organization?

The original reason for their existence was the need for pressure groups to obtain basic help for sick and wounded veterans. The ex-soldiers were forced to fight in individual wars in order to obtain a pittance for their families.

The service groups grew in power and by the time World War II rolled around the boys were receiving much consideration. Wages, pensions, and other benefits climbed and arrangements were made to compensate them for the years lost. Pensions were paid and money was available for education.

But despite all this, the service organizations fight on, too often on fronts where they don't belong, perhaps, but much of the time directly for the veterans who still must scrap for a shilling here and there.

There is something very inconsistent about a wealthy nation that budgets forty billion a year for defense, future wars and past wars, while private groups hustle money with which to purchase books and second-hand pleasures for the men in the hospitals. We can do better than this.

Politicians do much harping about their sympathies for the veterans but they create laws which are administered too often by those who prefer to err on the side of the statute rather than on the side of the heart. There is much inconsistency.

We know one man who cannot work and whose illness has been identified as service-connected by several doctors. No service organization nor any politician in Warren county or in our congressional district has been able to obtain what he obviously deserves. His is not an isolated case.

Except for years lost while others profited or were able to obtain an education, the average veteran asks for nothing except his citizenship and the opportunity to make his own living in his own way. But all of us should be doing all possible for the veteran who was incapacitated while fighting our war.

This man should want for nothing. He should not be receiving hand-me-downs of any kind. Every advantage should be his. If some fool us and obtain what they do not deserve, it will be a small minority of those helped through a properly administered and adequate system.

When the Legion, the VFW, the AMVETS, and all of our area politicians cannot get a sick veteran what is due him there is something very wrong with our system. When we hear constant pleas for games and books to keep our hospitalized veterans occupied the dependence on what amounts to charity is a little sickening.

BORIS IS NOT CRAWLING

The author of "Dr. Zhivago" who has been slapped down publicly by the Kremlin for earning the Nobel Prize has been pictured as begging for mercy from the Soviet leaders. Boris Pasternak is not on his knees pleading for himself. He is sacrificing self for the truth.

It would have been an easy move for Mr. Pasternak to have left Russia for the purpose of accepting the Nobel award. He probably would have been refused re-entrance to the Soviet Union, and a big share of us no doubt wonder what is so bad about that.

To a man of Pasternak's stature it would have been a complete loss. There is no need for Pasternaks outside of the iron curtain. We do not need him in person to convince us that communism is wrong. His book says that, and he has been rewarded for it.

Mr. Pasternak is of much greater value right where he is. There he wants to stay so that he may fight for the truth. He can best do that by forcing Soviet leaders to live with him. Always he will be a thorn in their side, and though it may call for much sacrifice on his part we suspect that here is one of those rare individuals who is willing to give himself for the rights of man.

Far too few of us will do this, even as a part of large groups. We avoid joining with others in unpopular efforts of the moment for fear of ridicule, loss of social position, the possible financial risk, and personal danger.

But the writer of Dr. Zhivago is above these worldly fears, it is our hope, and we may be watching one of history's great men doing that which dictatorial leaders fear the most. As a personal martyr within their own borders he is making them face up to facts and is helping millions to realize the truth.

We who make weak overtures toward civil rights in a free country, quibble about a few dollars with which to help the world's hungry and sick, and place dollars far ahead of truth in our alleged free press, are a poor lot by comparison. Or at least we are if Mr. Pasternak lives up to our expectations.

BUYERS' CORNER

SUPER-PACKAGING

Dorothea Kahn Jaffe, writing in the Christian Science Monitor, reveals some surprises in grocery packaging that soon will be on supermarket shelves. They include everything from zippers to space-suit feeding tubes.

The one we like is the foil-covered frozen lunch. You put it in your toaster and when the meal pops up you have your meat and gravy ready for munching.

There will be a polyethylene-coated bag which you will drop into boiling water for a ten-minute stay. When removed it will contain an individual portion of vegetable, pre-seasoned, precooked, and prepared for eating.

Biscuit dough will come in zippered containers. Flavoring and other cooking helps will come in packages which will produce a measured quantity with each squeeze, thus eliminating the measuring spoon.

And there will be a squeeze tube with a plastic nozzle and semi-solid food for space travelers who will poke the nozzle through their helmets. And a fibre can that will be easy on soft goods, such as lingerie, and will be easier to stack.

From boiling in a bag to toasting in a package the range promises to be easier on the housewife, and we suspect more expensive for the zippered biscuit winner.

NOT THERAPEUTIC

The Food and Drug officials cracked down on importers of 12,600 pairs of children's tennis shoes which were supposed to be impregnated with a chemical that would kill athlete's foot. The officials claimed the shoes were misbranded and the chemicals used actually were potentially dangerous.

WATCH THIS ONE

In Warren mail these days is an envelope of sales talk which includes a folder filled with plugs for something called "Vitasafe" which is described as two truly comprehensive safe high potency formulas including BRAIN FOOD and ANTI-

COLD. Apparently this is supposed not only to remove your head cold but also to do something for your head.

You can try it for only 25 cents it says right there in big print. It says the retail value is $5.95.

This may be great stuff, but we suggest a visit to your doctor might cost less. If you need vitamins he will prescribe them. Maybe your condition suggests something that requires more than pills. In that case you are wasting valuable time that could even cost your life by self-medication.

Let your doctor decide. The value of wasted time in treating a malady can not be measured.

BUGS IN YOUR BELFRY?

If you have bug trouble a dollar might help you eliminate the pests and keep them eliminated in the future. Or perhaps there are some you would just as soon have around.

Whether you want to rid yourself of all bugs or only a few of the damaging ones, there is a correspondence course available at Penn State which you can study for a dollar. It is written in non-technical language, and can be obtained by sending the buck to Correspondence Courses, 202 Agricultural Education Building, University Park, Pa. The dollar covers your postage, correction, and grading.

TAINT'S SO

"The Federal Trade Commission has approved a consent order prohibiting Towncraft Industries, Inc., 521 Oritan Ave., Ridgefield, N. J., from misrepresenting the advantages of cooking with "Chef's Ware," its stainless steel cooking utensils, and from falsely disparaging aluminum cookware.

"In its complaint of January 15, the Commission said the company sells this merchandise through salesmen and furnishes them with sales manuals, talks, and talk visualizers. Both this material and Towncraft's advertising matter, the complaint alleged, contain false claims concerning health benefits to be gained from using "Chef's Ware" and the dangers from cooking with aluminum.

"The Commission's order requires the company to stop representing:

"That with "Chef's Ware" and the waterless method of cooking all food elements will be preserved;

"That most illnesses result from mineral and vitamin deficiencies brought about by improperly prepared foods;

"That cooking odors from food indicate minerals and vitamins are being cooked out;

"That food cooked in aluminum utensils becomes tainted or poisonous or causes ill health."

NOT NEW OR COMPLETE

"The publisher of "Webster's Unified Dictionary and Encyclopedia" and a licensee distributing a loose-leaf edition of it entitled "Webster's Encyclopedic Dictionary of the English Language" have been charged by the Federal Trade Commission with misrepresenting that the book is a new publication containing only complete and up-to-date information.

"Charged in separate FTC complaints with false and misleading advertising in violation of the FTC Act are:

"H. S. Stuttman Co., and its officials, Harry S., Burton, and Martin Stuttman, 404 Fourth Ave., New York City (7244); and

"George McKibbin & Son and its officials, Samuel Schulman, Harold S. Cohen, Leslie Schwartz, and Martin Sperling, 67 - 34th St., Brooklyn, N. Y. (7245)

"Stuttman publishes and sells the reference book by direct mail order and has licensed McKibbin to print a loose-leaf edition and sell it in American and Canadian supermarkets. The supermarket version is sold in ten weekly sections, with the purchaser assembling the ten units, a post binder and thumb index, and a so-called guide to self education into the complete book.

"Both concerns claim in their advertising matter and on the title

In Brief

FIVE MOTORISTS were arrested by Warren Borough police following traffic mishaps during the past week.

Bennie Watson, Youngsville, was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way after he pulled his truck out of a Lexington ave. driveway and struck a passing car operated by Fred O. Wood, 105 Dartmouth st., Warren, at 8:50 a.m. Monday. Most of the $400 damage caused was to the Wood auto.

Third and Water street was the scene of a mishap at 4:50 p.m. Sunday that resulted in the arrest of Fred B. Carter, Olean, N.Y. He was charged after running the sign on Water and hitting Fred W. Dey, Corry, who was proceeding east on Third. Damage was estimated at $550.

At 1:25 p.m. Sunday Roy E. Jones, Sheffield, was proceeding along Pennsylvania ave. near Parker st. when Dominick Comberati, 1310 Pennsylvania ave., E., Warren, pulled out of a gas station and struck the side of his car. The Warren man was charged with reckless driving in the $350 mix-up.

A similar arrest was made against Emaline E. Arp, Saybrook, when she struck the rear of a stopped car occupied by Margery B. Smith, 109 Grant st., Warren, at 7:12 a.m. Friday at the Conewango and Pennsylvania avenue intersection. A cloudy windshield was said to have been the cause, and damage inflicted amounted to over $300.

At 9:58 a.m. last Thursday Sandra Lee Young, 1812 Pennsylvania ave., W., Warren, caused minor damage when she pulled through the blinker light at Pine st. and Pennsylvania ave. and hit L. G. Nelson, R. D. 2, Warren. She was charged with a flashing red light violation. ***

FORGERY. Allen Ray Sheldon, Jamestown, N. Y., is in Warren County Jail awaiting court on a charge of forgery. On September 19 the New York State man cashed a $100 check at the North Warren Branch of the Warren Bank and Trust Co. in the name of Donald Wester, who operates a mill in Akeley. ***

He was picked up by Jamestown police Saturday on a warrant issued by local authorities. A plea of not guilty was entered at his arraignment. ***

ON THE DISTINGUISHED honor roll at Warren high school for the first period were Sally Delong, senior; John Aldrich, Violet Biekarck, Steve Cullinane, Victor Genberg and Susan Werner, juniors; Lana Shield and Ulysses Smith, sophomores. ***

TELEVISION CHANGE. Gone from Sunday night's tv schedule will be the "$64,000 Question". It will be replaced by "Keep Talking," a comedy panel.

MISBEHAVE. The six Warren boys who attempted to barge into the county jail early Sunday morning to release a friend have been cited for disorderly conduct. When they appeared before a police justice the five juveniles in the group were ordered to appear in juvenile court and the other member, Joseph Duffy, 18, was sent to jail for seven days in lieu of a $10 fine.

Their friend, Kenneth Allen, 18, Jamestown, N. Y., had been locked up after he was picked up by State Police in Kinzua. The way of having him released, however, was of a wrong nature.

The Jamestown man was released Monday when he pleaded not guilty to operating a vehicle without a license and posted $500 bond. ***

FELL ASLEEP. Robert C. Berdine, R. D. 1, Clarendon, was reported to have fallen asleep while driving south on Locust st. at 12:55 a.m. Sunday when he veered into a utility pole. Loss to the car was given as $400 and to the pole $50. ***

POSTMASTERS have sent out another reminder that Christmas parcel, Christmas cards and letters to members of the armed forces overseas should be mailed by Nov. 20th. This not only means service personnel, but members of their families and others who receive their mail through an APO number.

Sizes, weight limitations, prohibitive articles, etc., can be secured by check at the local post offices. A slip showing the list of contents and addressee should be enclosed in every box or package. To certain APO's and NPO's a Customs Declaration of Form 2966 or 2976-A must be completed by the sender. ***

OUTSTANDING YOUNG FARMER. The Warren Jaycees have started their second annual Outstanding Young Farmer Project, a program designed to find and honor an exceptional farm man in Warren County between the ages of 21 and 35.

Nomination blanks are being distributed by Bernard Wingert, of the extension office, and should be turned in by November 10. The winner will be honored at a dinner on November 17 and entered in statewide competition. ***

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK. Work of the schools and the teachers will be brought to the attention of the public when Warren Borough Schools observe American Education Week November 9-15.

To help enlighten the public in regard to what is going on in the classrooms of Warren's schools, several groups have taken particular subjects for themes of window displays which will appear throughout downtown Warren.

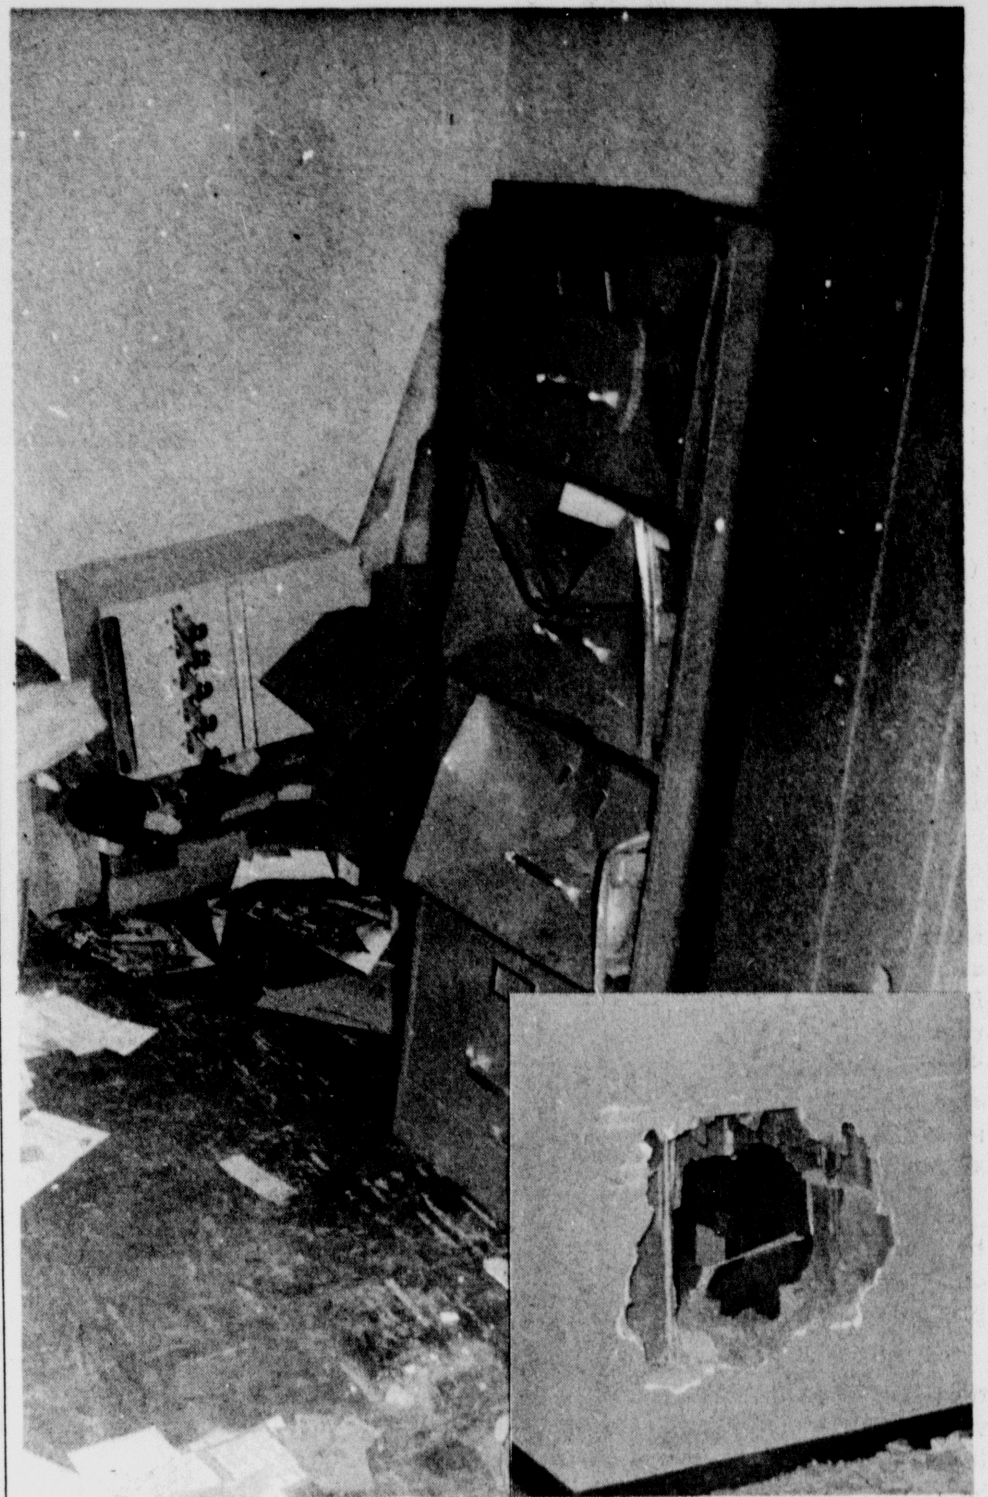

At Metzger Wright Co. the elementary social studies teachers will depict stages of learning identified with social studies work. A display of art exhibits representing levels of kindergarten through the twelfth year will appear in a window not yet designated by the art instructors; also in the respective buildings.

The teachers of the first three elementary grades will show the development of all the fundamental skills and learning processes of the three R's. This exhibit will be in the Montgomery Ward window.

Specimens ranging from Geology to Zoology will be included in Beaty Junior high school's display in the Gaughn's Drug Store window. Featured will be selected pieces of equipment found in the science department and in what phase of study it is used. A chart showing the scope of homemaking education in the junior and senior high schools, along with some exhibits, will be set up at Beckley's Store during the week.

The theme of American Education Week is -- "Report Card, U.S.A." ***

MONTHLY MEETING of the Board of Directors of the Family Service and Children's Aid Society will be held in the Society's office at 1 p. m. next Wednesday. This is a change from Tuesday, which is Veterans Day.

BURGLARY. Thieves made off with about $2,500 in cash and caused an estimated $1,000 property damage when they forced their way into the record room of Eisenhower high school during the early morning hours Tuesday.

The burglars gained entry by breaking a window of the lobby door near the auditorium and proceeded to the general office where they forced their way in a similar manner.

At this point the thieves proceeded to chop about a two foot hole (see insert) through a 12-inch block wall into the safe. Entry to the room was later made through the door when a safety bar was slipped.

In ransacking the room the burglars, besides removing the cash, damaged four record files beyond repair and scattered records and other important papers about the room. The cash stolen was mainly from the sale of class rings, football and cafeteria receipts, and other funds.

The break-in was discovered by janitor Louis VanOrd when he came on duty at 5 a. m. Tuesday. The night janitor had left only two hours earlier, however, superintendent Everett Landin pointed out that entry could have been made earlier. He explained the building was large and that many loud noises, such as pipes cracking when they expanded, are heard during the night and could have covered up any strange occurrences.

The record room at the school is the main depository, and, in addition to money and checks, contains records from all schools in the area, birth certificates, financial records, a photo machine and relics from the construction of the new building.

FIREMAN APPEALS. Hoseman Paul Drescher, who with Driver Floyd Wilbur was given a seven-day suspension by Borough Council for failing to answer two taps while on duty at the West Side fire station on March 31 and August 20, appealed Monday night to the Civil Service Commission.

The hoseman, appealing alone, charged that in the August 20th incident both he and Wilbur heard the taps and in that the latter was the senior man it was his duty to answer the call from central station. At the time, he stated, he proceeded to square a mixup with the laundry man.

Wilbur, on the other hand, told the commission he was just outside the door talking with a Mr. Ruhman, 81 Farm Lane, and did not hear the signal and was not informed it had sounded. The witness recalled visiting the fireman in August, but not the date.

When the two firemen were questioned on the issue later, no specific answer was offered on the part of either man.

It was brought out in the hearing that either man is qualified to answer the taps, although the driver is in charge of an end station.

Wilbur admitted that on March 31 he had heard the taps and after several attempts to call in on a busy line, forgot about the signal. Drescher verified this.

Briefs on the case are to be handed to the commission and a decision brought forth in ten days.

Democrats Gain A Mite As GOP Holds County

Republican candidates never were in danger Tuesday as they enjoyed a wide margin over the Democrat challengers, but Warren county voters indicated they might be showing signs of two-party thinking. As usual, Dr. Leroy Chapman led the ticket, receiving 8987 votes to the 5036 cast for Richard Van Kirk, Oil City mayor. Van Kirk, one of the few Democrats ever to win an office in Venango county, also lost in his home area where the popular doctor led him, 12,926 to 7,169.

But in 1950 the score was 8732 to 3495 for Dr. Chapman, and in 1954 it was 8273 to 4132 in his favor. His better than two to one margin slipped off to a nine to five, and when you do that to the champ of the GOP on his home grounds, democracy may be working.

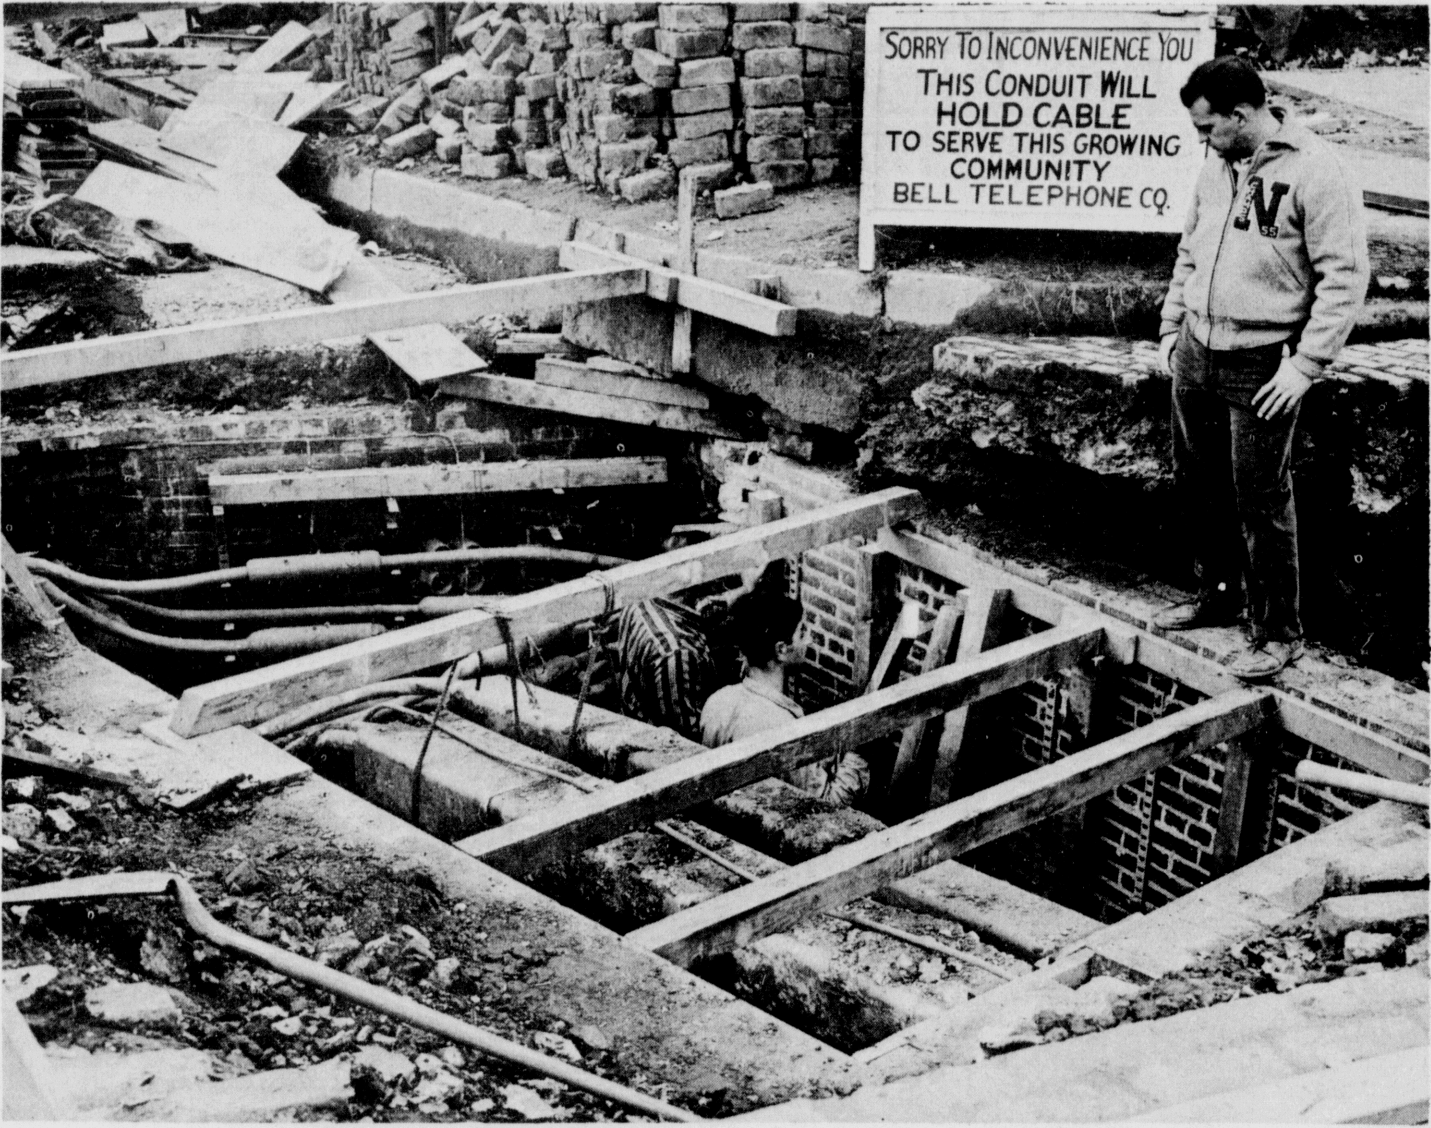

Leon H. Gavin went back to congress for another two years with an 8821 to 5146 count over Thomas Kennedy. How the same voters also gave Hugh Scott 8868 to 5177 for George Leader in the senatorial race we do not comprehend. Both Scott and Gavin are congressmen and their voting records are exactly opposite. How do you choose a candidate, if not by his record?

Gavin didn't look so good in little Forest county where he managed only 1267 to 852, despite a very prejudiced press.

The popular Allen Gibson was returned to the state house with 8871 votes to 5110 cast for Harold Spink. It was a bigger margin than when he bucked the rugged Lou Crippen in 1954, the score of which was 7740 to 4672.

Warren county did less well for Arthur McConigle with whom the party chose to lose rather than have a chance with Harold Stassen. It was 8849 to 5338 for David Lawrence in the governor contest.

The POLITICS OF IT

(By Bob Walsh)

WHO WON?

Unless you are at least moderately progressive in your thinking you probably are disappointed over Tuesday's election. It was not a party line vote as much as it was a combination of reactions to the recession, efforts to stifle labor gains, and the stiff-necked approach to many problems by a major share of the Republicans.

In Pennsylvania the success of Hugh Scott in his senatorial race should not surprise Observer readers. Republicans will make a major error if they think they replaced Martin or if they believe they chose a true successor to the present reactionary gentleman who holds that seat. Scott's voting record as a congressman is exactly opposite that of Martin's as a senator. In fact it matches most liberal Democrats.

The success of Rockefeller in New York state is another case of a liberal personality winning out over an official who has vacillated a bit in his dance for presidential consideration. Harriman also is an "in" and they suffered where the opposition had popular appeal.

Liberal thinking has been given approval and the vast majority enjoyed by the Democrats in Washington suggests they remember that. Fence-sitting over the next two years will not win in 1960. The public wants progressive and positive leadership.

If the Democrats pass legislation designed to solve some of the ills which they claim exist and it is accepted as such by the voting public, use of the veto by President Eisenhower may win the day for the Democrats in 1960.

Nixon's status received a solid jolt. His campaigning was of no avail, and where he was not wanted the party enjoyed success namely, New York state. While Rockefeller can use the New York governor's office as a test tube to prove he has ability as well as charm (and foundations), Nixon has lost even his senatorial influence. His vote there no longer means much because of the Democrat majority and the little likelihood that there will be tie votes for him to settle.

If Nixon is to save his place in the presidential sun it may be necessary for President Eisenhower to give him a major role in White House activities. But Ike may consider Rockefeller the better man and let Nixon dangle.

As far as the possibility of actual accomplishments in Washington it now remains to be learned if the progressives in the Democrat and Republican ranks are sufficiently numerous to outvote the possible coalition of mossback GOP members and what some have termed the Dixiecrats of the South. Until that line-up is revealed the future of several key issues will not be known.

AND BACK HERE

Warren county didn't surprise anyone. It continues as Republican as the South does Democrat. But the rural vote reveals a very different thinking than that found in Warren borough.

The Republican victory in Warren was better than two to one in all major contests. But outside of the borough it was less than five to three.

The only two precincts that offered an element of change were Sugar Grove second and Southwest first. Other areas in which the Democrats enjoyed an occasional edge and in some instances a solid majority were the Fourth Ward in Warren, Conewango second, Columbus, Deerfield, Kinzua, and Spring Creek. None of which was unexpected.

TREASURY AGENT:

COUNTERFEIT SCHEME TO RAISE MONEY FOR YUGOSLAVIAN REVOLT HATCHED BY BONA FIDE PRIEST

This is the ninth of 12 articles taken from "Treasury Agent," just published by Simon and Schuster and written by Andrew Tully, veteran newspaperman.

BY ANDREW TULLY

OVER THE YEARS the Secret Service has learned that a man's calling is no guarantee of his purity.

In Washington headquarters, a ruggedly handsome man named Buck Daniel, now assistant chief of the Secret Service, often thinks back to the professional acquaintance he once enjoyed with an authentic priest who bossed a counterfeiting crew as a kind of patriotic sideline.

This would be Father Sophrony Balaban, a tall, dark, distinguished-looking man with a neat black beard and the affable manner of an insurance salesman.

In 1937, Father Balaban was pastor of the Holy Trinity Serbian Orthodox Church in St. Louis, a man beloved of his parishioners.

It is quite possible Father Balaban would have successfully maintained his double life for several years and thereby earned the money he wanted to stage a coup d'etat in his native Yugoslavia had it not been for a Secret Service agent's memory for faces.

After all, on that spring day in 1937 when St. Louis Agent-in-Charge Raymond A. Horton was sauntering down a St. Louis street he had no idea even that a plot was hatching, much less that there was a bona fide priest behind it.

But as he walked by a streetcar stop, Horton saw a big, dark man standing on the curb. He recognized him at a glance. The man was Big Mike Maslik, an expert engraver, whom Horton had arrested back in 1927 for employing his art at the behest of a counterfeiting syndicate. Mike had been deported to Yugoslavia, and Horton figured at the time he'd never see him again.

Even as Horton walked by, a streetcar stopped and Mike stepped aboard. Horton, shielding his face with a newspaper, hopped on after him. When Mike got off at a stop near the edge of town, Horton got off, too, and followed until he saw Mike go into a house marked by a sign on the front lawn. The sign read: Holy Trinity Serbian Orthodox Church -- Parish House -- Rev. Sophrony Balaban, Pastor.

Horton hurried to a drugstore down the block -- from which he could keep an eye on the Balaban house -- and phoned the office. He ordered a 24-hour surveillance of the house.

What Horton didn't know was that he was in on almost the very beginning of a counterfeit conspiracy headed by Father Balaban.

More than a year before, Father Balaban and some assorted Serbian and Croatian pals had hatched a two-fold plan. They would go into the counterfeiting racket to make themselves independently wealthy. Then each would contribute a portion of his loot to finance a revolution in Yugoslavia. It gave the boys a real patriotic glow to think about it.

One of the boys knew just the man they needed -- one Nick Znerly, a tiny Serbian whose engravings for bogus money had so impressed the Secret Service that Nick had been forced to go undercover. For reasons of discretion, Father Balaban was picked to find Nick.

Father Balaban hustled to New York and looked up some pals who seldom strayed inside a church. They directed him to an address on 125th Street, and there Father Balaban found Nick Znerly.

Nick was enthusiastic about the plan, but currently he was too hot to do the engraving; he had to keep on the move. But he knew just the man, the famous Mike Maslik, whose stuff had fooled some of the canniest bankers since Midas.

"But Mike's in the old country," said Father Balaban. "What do you expect him to do, mail us the plates?"

"That's what you think, that Mike's in the old country," Znerly told him. "He's up in Canada and he's ready to go."

Father Balaban pressed a roll of genuine $20 bills on the not-unwilling Znerly. "Get him and bring him to St. Louis," he told Nick. "Tell him we're going to make him a rich man and help the old country, too."

Within two weeks Mike Maslik was knocking on the door of Father Balaban's parish house. By the time Agent Horton recognized Maslik on a St. Louis street, Mike had been toiling for three months in a little shop on the second floor of the parish house, and it would be another several months before the plates would be ready.

The show was on the road. A restaurant owner in Warren, Ohio, had come up with the dough for printing equipment, and willing Serbian and Croat hands were available for moving it into Father Balaban's cellar.

Here the clergyman demurred. He proposed that the printing plant be located elsewhere for safety's sake. A conspirator named Pete Klickovitch, alias Pete Osula, promptly paid a visit to an old friend in Monaca, near Pittsburgh, and rented part of the friend's house for the plant.

Meanwhile, the Secret Service continued the surveillance of Maslik and Father Balaban. Buck Daniel was one of the agents assigned to the chore, and he discovered that Father Balaban was a man who could look upon the wine when it was red without blinking.

Every morning, shortly after 6 o'clock, the priest emerged from his home and made for a nearby saloon. There he belted two swift slugs of gin and chased them with a couple of schooners of beer. Then he'd sit down to a breakfast of ham and eggs, fried potatoes and a couple of pieces of apple pie. He drank all day at the rate of one shot of gin and one beer every hour, and yet he never seemed to get drunk.

One day in the fall of 1957, the gang made its first pitch. The owner of a tavern was fooled by an impressive counterfeit $20 bill. In the Secret Service laboratory, it was tabbed at once as a "bleach job" -- that is, a genuine $1 bill had been bleached until no printing remained, then printed with a $20 counterfeit plate. The idea, of course, was to give the bill the appearance of the McCoy by using genuine paper.

At SS headquarters, Agent-in-Charge Leo Smugai, who had replaced Horton that summer when Horton was transferred to Washington, decided to lay low. He figured the phony 20 was a pilot bill, circulated to see if the Federal men would do anything about it.

But something new was added to the sleuthing setup. A New York agent named Fred Smith, who was unknown in St. Louis, was assigned to try to scrape up an acquaintance with the gang. He had just arrived when the law men got a break.

Other agents had discovered that a large order for printing ink, similar to that used in printing currency, had been received by a St. Louis stationery firm. A check showed the firm also had a big order for a good quality bondpaper.

Both orders had been placed by a broken-down ex-bootlegger named Frank Lehecka. It was found that Lehecka hung his hat in a cheap boarding house in East St. Louis, Ill., across the river from St. Louis.

Agent Smith moved into the boarding house. He left letters on his bureau showing he was a fugitive on the lam from New York and then carelessly neglected to lock his door. Within a week, Lehecka was nodding to him in the hallway, and shortly thereafter Smith joined Lehecka and his pals in their nightly poker games.

When a larger room became available in the boarding house, Lehecka suggested that Smith move into it with him. Smith played hard to get, then agreed. "I got some things to talk over with you," Lehecka told Smith.

The "things" consisted of a complete spill on the counterfeiting gang. Lehecka urged Smith to join the mob. He promised him a share of the proceeds in return for the use of Smith's car. Smith joined up, chortling inwardly.

Apparently, the gang had started turning out the bogus bills -- and Father Balaban was doing the testing for his pals. At any rate, a St. Louis druggist got a phony bill and reported it to the Secret Service. He said he got it from a tavern keeper. The publican said he got it from the Reverend Sophrony Balaban, who had pulled it out of an envelope stuffed with new money.

"He's a preacher," explained the saloon keeper. "I've known him for 15 years. The guy married me. Somebody must've pulled it on him."

Meanwhile, more evidence was wanted that Father Balaban was doing business with the gang. So one Sunday morning a couple of agents parked their car outside the priest's church. When he emerged to chat with his parishioners, one of the agents snapped a fine closeup of him with a small camera.

The picture was shown to a woman who operated a hotel in St. Louis where Osula formerly had lived. She identified it as the "Santa Claus" who had been one of Osula's regular visitors.

A few nights later, Father Balaban paid a call on Osula at another hotel. In the lobby Osula handed the preacher a single banknote and a large manila envelope. Osula went out the next night, and while one agent lurked in the lobby against his return, a second had a look at Osula's room. In it he found a suitcase containing 16 counterfeit bills. He recorded their serial numbers and also lifted Osula's fingerprints from the bag.

It was about time to close in on the mob, but one bit of information was lacking. The SS still didn't know about the printing plant in that house in Monaca, Pa. It was decided to continue the surveillance for a few more weeks.

The payoff for those months of bone-chilling, muscle-aching watching came in early November, 1937. One day two cars known to belong to the gang took off from St. Louis. In one car was Pete Osula and a lower-case gangster named John the Barman. John carried a package.

SS agents, also in two cars, followed the mobsters -- for two sleepless days and nights. The two-car expedition first went to Chicago, where the mobsters spent the night in a South Side hotel.

Next morning the motorcade proceeded to Toledo, where Osula stopped for a barroom chat with some pals. Then they continued on to Monroe, Mich. Here they stopped at a house near the edge of town and left John the Barman's package. The house was occupied by Nick Znerty, whom Father Balaban had recruited months ago.

The house was watched all that day and night. Next morning all but Pete Osula checked out and drove back to St. Louis in the two cars. Osula emerged a few hours later, carrying a package.

Tailed by agents, he took a train to Detroit and then to Pittsburgh, where he transferred to a bus and rode out to a certain house in Monaca which he had first visited several months back to rent some floor space. Agents Fred Gruber and Gabriel Di Fiore watched the house all day, but Osula was the only visitor.

Obviously, the time had come for the pounce.

That night, with revolvers drawn, Gruber and Di Fiore knocked on the front door of the house in Monaca. There was no answer. They knocked again. This time the door was opened a crack and a man peered out. It was Pete Osula.

Desperately, Osula tried to slam the door, but Gruber's foot was in the way. He and Di Fiore plowed into the door with their shoulders and it crashed open, throwing Osula to the floor. Before he could get up, Di Fiore had the handcuffs on him.

Gruber rushed past Di Fiore and Osula and down the cellar stairs. In the cellar, he found a new printing press, and, on a nearby table, a stack of new bills. A big man was hurriedly stripping a plate from the press. It was Mike Maslik. "I heard you coming and figured this was it," he told Gruber. "All I had left to do was put on the serial numbers."

In the cellar, the agents found $34,000 in new bills. Other phony money was found in the house in Monroe, Mich., and in various spots in St. Louis, including the upstairs office in the parish house of Father Balaban. All told, the take was $600,000 in counterfeit currency; it later was learned the mob had passed only 70 $20 bills.

Only one of the gang rounded up in St. Louis went to trial -- the others, including Father Balaban, pleaded guilty. The defendant who copped an innocent plea was a former St. Louis policeman who had been charged with being a passer. At Erie, Pa., Maslik and Znerty each drew 15 years in the pen. Father Balaban, Osula and other members of the gang got five years apiece.

IN YOUR TV FUTURE

CBS has lined up the following special shows which will be seen during the next few weeks: Monday, November 10, "All Star Jazz Show"; Thursday, November 13, "The Winslow Boy" on DuPont Show of the Month; "Conquest" on Sundays, November 16 and December 14; "Victor Borge Show", Saturday, November 29; "New York Philharmonic Orchestra", Sunday, November 30; "Wonderful Town", Sunday, November 30; "High Adventure With Lowell Thomas", Saturday, December 6; and "Gift of the Magi", Tuesday, December 9.

NBC also has a number of special shows lined up for the same period: "Shirley Temple's Storybook Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves", Wednesday, November 12; "Hallmark Hall of Fame's Kiss Me Kate", Thursday, November 20; "The Bob Hope Show", Friday, November 21; "Dean Martin Show", Saturday, November 22; "Strange Case of the Cosmic Rays", A Bell Telephone series, on Sunday, November 23; Shirley Temple's Storybook "Emperor's New Clothes", Tuesday, November 25; "Exploring With Hope", with Bob Hope emceeing a full hour show in cooperation with Boy Scouts of America to spotlight the Explorer program, Saturday, November 29; Jerry Lewis Show, Wednesday, December 10; Hallmark Hall of Fame "Christmas Tree", Sunday, December 14; Shirley Temple's Storybook "Mother Goose", Sunday, December 21.

SIGNS OF HEALTH

Television, with all its ills and ailments, occasionally shows symptoms of good health. For instance, in the past few weeks the world, via the television screen, was able to be at the deathbed of the late Pope Pius XII and the subsequent funeral rites; the opening of Parliament by Queen Elizabeth was seen by the world for the first time; the coronation of Pope John XXIII was seen this week by televiewers; and the dramatic rescue of survivors of two coal mining disasters was a highlight of news coverage.

Such events as these indicate television's potential in the area of news and public events coverage.

BIG RESPONSE TO TV BIBLE COURSE

Tremendous public response to the first college course in Bible study ever offered on television has occasioned astonishment among its sponsors.

The course is offered in the Washington, D. C. area by American University, a Methodist institution. More than one thousand persons have sent in registration fees of $2 to the college's department of religion for study guides and other supplemental material with which to follow the hour-long Saturday morning course.

More than one hundred others have paid a $20 fee in order to receive two hours of college credit for taking the course. They will be required to write term papers and take final examinations at the college.

This again indicates that those who watch television are interested in the informative and educational side of the medium. The "captive audience" includes a large share of people who desire more than entertainment.

WEATHER BY TV RADAR

Out in Chicago, WBKB-TV is promising a weather station in every home that has a television set. Viewers not only hear the weather reports, they see the weather for themselves by means of radar waves which record images on the TV screen. Outlines of a map are superimposed on the screen enabling them to locate rain within a 173-mile radius, see ships on Lake Michigan and observe "ground clutter" of Indiana steel mills. The first experiment of the kind was introduced by WFAA-TV in Dallas, Texas.

A meteorologist is conducting a six-weeks course for home television viewers so that they may learn to read the radar reports and translate them into predictions of rain, hail, heavy snow, etc.

Much special equipment has been installed for the program by WBKB-TV and is located on top of the 44-story Kemper Insurance Building in Chicago where the station has its telecasting tower.

DIAL SPINNERS

OMNIBUS at 5-6 p. m. Sunday on NBC channels will have swimming star Esther Williams demonstrating the similarity of human body movements in water to those performed by undersea craft. She will also lend her graceful authority to an examination of the atomic submarine. Another feature of this day's program will be a demonstration of the Navy's celebrated "escape tank" in which submariners are trained.

20TH CENTURY at 6:30 on CBS channels Sunday presents "Rockne of Notre Dame", a unique profile of the late great Notre Dame football coach whose strategy revolutionized the sport.

CHEVY SHOW at 8-9 p. m. Sunday on NBC presents "The Grand National World Championship Rodeo" starring Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, with The Sons of the Pioneers, Royal Canadian Mounted Police and World Champion Cowboys.

LORETTA YOUNG SHOW, Sunday night at 10:00 on NBC-TV, marks the beginning of American Education Week with a drama about a widowed mother of two children who works as a part-time waitress to augment her income as a high school history teacher in "The Twenty-Cent Tip".

ALL STAR JAZZ SHOW, Monday night 10-11:00 on CBS, will have Hoagy Carmichael and Bob Crosby as hosts; Louis Armstrong, Jane Morgan, Les Brown, Anita O'Day and others as guest performers.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE STORYBOOK presents "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves", a classic tale from "Arabian Nights" collection of Oriental fairy tales, on NBC channels Wednesday night from 7:30 to 8:30.

DUPONT SHOW OF THE MONTH, Thursday night on CBS from 9:30 to 11:00, will present "The Winslow Boy", starring Frederic March, Florence Eldridge, Siobhan McKenna and Denholm Elliott. This will be a "live" production.

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS, Thursday night at 9:00 on NBC, will present a dramatic counter-espionage tale titled "The Nike Story".

UNINFORMED CRITIC

We enjoyed a major share of the talk given by John Crosby when he visited Warren last Thursday, and quite obviously the audience also was not unhappy about the dollar spent. Our criticism of the critic is that he missed an opportunity to drive home a punch for educational television.

This was not due to his objections to it. In fact he was convinced that much is being done in other parts of the nation. But he was under the impression that it had failed in the East. He said only 43 people took a tv course in the New York area with millions listening.

We doubt if millions were listening. And if they were, that is proof to us that much value is to be found in such programs. If the viewers are sufficiently interested to watch, we are not concerned about their officially enrolling. They are bound to gain in knowledge.

But what Mr. Crosby apparently did not know is that a current educational series is proving so successful that twenty thousand people have mailed money for syllabuses with which to study the course.

Any advertising man or anyone familiar with mail order work will tell you that such a response represents a tremendous success. It is difficult to move people to clip a coupon and mail it at no cost to the sender. A surprisingly small percentage is considered a good response. When the mailing of a coupon also entails the sending of money the percentage drops to a very low low.

But in the case of the educational tv lessons about which we speak they had to write their own letter, enclose money, and address an envelope. This may seem like a small chore, but those who deal in mail orders will tell you that a stamped envelope and a simple card ready for mailing are required if you are to enjoy a small percentage of success.

The response to the television class room is even more amazing when you realize that it required the mailing of fifty cents and the course is in atomic physics. It is called Continental Class room, and has 234 colleges participating.

And adding to difficulties the course surmounts is the hour, 6:30 to 7:00 a.m., every week day. You can see the NBC effort on WJAC and on WGR. CBS also has an educational program at this hour, but our best stations for reception purposes do not carry it. We believe that KDKA is the only one.

TOMORROW'S TV

There is one slant to the television of tomorrow which we have not heard mentioned anywhere. That is the effect the two-set home will have on programming.

Obviously the best reason for having two sets is to make it possible for all to see their favorite programs. This will mean a greater degree of concentrating by the audience in front of every set. Today a major share of your audience includes those members of the household who don't care much for the program being seen, and are dozing, wool-gathering, or reading. But if there is another set available and they go to the trouble of changing rooms for the purpose of tuning it in, they will do so because of their interest in the show they want.

This is an extremely important point. Network tv today has a rule-of-thumb which it will not violate. It must not lose its audience at any time. For this reason it will not experiment with such programs as Omnibus in prime hours. There still will be enough viewers to make it a paying proposition for the advertiser, but many of the network followers will desert it for a western and then may stay tuned to the competitor. And so the policy is to match a western with a western to hold the herd.

But with two sets in every home a program might hold a share of every family audience despite smoking, traveling guns. It would make it possible for a network to aim at the more erudite members of all households, perhaps for a full evening, with such programs as Small World with Edward R. Murrow, Twentieth Century, and others, running in a series.

If even one member of a family can be drawn away, others will become curious and a taste for better television might be developed. One of our slim hopes is that the second set in the study will crack the quality barrier.

A TV CONTRIBUTION

Carl Sandburg surprised everyone, including his television interviewer, Milton Berle, when he said that tv was making a major contribution to culture. Asked what it was, he said television was driving people to reading books.

VILLA MARIA OFFERINGS

If you are one of those who have wished you could make it to Stratford, Ontario, some summer for the purpose of seeing the Shakespeare productions presented there annually, you can fulfill that wish next Monday with a trip to Erie. Villa Maria College is opening its cultural series with the Canadian Players of Stratford who will present "As You Like It."

Dawn Greenhalgh and Ted Fellows will have the leading roles. Miss Greenhalgh, a native of Shanghai, is one of the most attractive and talented ladies of the Canadian theatre. Mr. Fellows requires no introduction. Time of the play is 8:30, in the Villa Maria Academy auditorium, West Lake Road, Erie.

The next program will be seen November 18 when Don Freeman will give his Sketchbook Revue.

SUNDAY LAUGHTER

The Sid Caesar show in the Dinah Shore spot Sunday night had all the hallmarks of his unique genius; it was manic, satiric, extravagant, contemporary and frequently overdone. It was wonderful having him back, warts and all. For the first time in a long time, he had space to work in -- he needs a lot of it -- and a trio of marvelous co-workers and foils in Art Carney, Shirley MacLaine and Cliff Norton. He needs good people to work with (as who doesn't) and I suppose I was not alone in thinking that Art Carney and Shirley MacLaine would make marvelous permanent companions, if that were possible and I suppose it isn't. Right at the outset, Caesar -- in this his first show from Hollywood -- poked a little fun at those tremendous fanfare openings that come out of the West. Then he and Carney and Norton sank their teeth into televised electioneering. This has been done before and done better but it had its moments, particularly when Carney, as an advertising man in politics, was moaning "if only he could be sprayed on or if you could take him home and try him for thirty days."

Shirley MacLaine and Cliff Norton.

Humor, for years now, has been getting too mild, too bland, too harmless and it's a pleasure to welcome back some real mean humor. There were some wonderfully telling slashes in a satire on "Playhouse 90," particularly on those long trailers. "We'll now show you Act II of our play three weeks from tonight, an original repeat by our alternate sponsor." Even meaner and truer and deadlier was a little parody on the Dick Clark show with Carney playing the part of a disk jockey. "And now the Draculaires sing 'You Drove a Stake Through My Heart,'" cried Carney cheerily. "Really, you have no idea how much money I make out of you kids. I'm especially fond of this label because I get an awful log of money plugging it."

And the sketch ended with Caesar, playing the part of a manic teenager, grabbing Carney and in a truly inspired bit of comedy that was both funny and tragic, crying: "You're all we got, Johnny! I mean -- is this it? Is this life -- jumping around to this dopey music? We need help!" I don't know why that got a bark of laughter out of me except that laughter and tears are always closer than we think.

Caesar still needs editing. It was an untidy hour but it had class and exuberance and originality and, oh brother, do we ever need all those things.

It was a good night for comedy, actually. Over on Steve Allen's program earlier, Elaine May and Mike Nichols made a return appearance with a devastatingly funny bit about finding an apartment in this crowded and unreasonable town. This bit hasn't the tremendous originality of the sheer bit of truth of some of their earlier duologues but it was very funny, surer and perhaps more commercial.

Like Caesar, these two use sheer outrage to shake laughter out of you. Miss May's look of icy scorn when Mr. Nichols said he had children, for example. "But they don't have to live with us . . . We're not even very close, really . . . Sometimes I could kill my wife for having them." This is the humor of wild exaggeration and you had best be surefooted about it. My only reservation about Nichols and May is that they seem a little limited in scope. That is, the routines seem rooted to a pair of stools and until they get up and move around a bit, perhaps engage in sketches, I can't be completely unrestrained but otherwise I find them the freshest and most engaging comics to come along in some years.

I'm afraid I can't be that enthusiastic about a bit Allen did with his regulars, Tom Poston, Louis Nye, and Don Knotts, revolving around a bunch of drunken winetasters. This was amateur night, a bad idea to start out with, terribly long and infinitely dreary. Earlier there was Jacques Tati, the very funny Frenchman who was quite a lot less than that in his brief appearance on the Allen show. But you can't have everything. As comic evenings go, last Sunday was a high water mark and we haven't had one of those for some time. (c) 1958 New York Herald Tribune Inc.

"Who dropped that bucket O' paint!"

While he is dropping paint, we'll drop a little advice. Many homeowners are paying less in mortgage payments than they paid in rent. They enjoy the pride and security of home ownership. Consider owning your home, and consider YOUNGVILLE NATIONAL BANK for your mortgage loan.

BOXING - Lightweights Kenny Lane, of Muskegon, Mich., and Lahouari Godih, of Paris, France, tangle in a 10-round bout at the War Memorial Auditorium in Syracuse, N. Y. Friday night at 10:00. Cavalcade of Sports by Gillette will cover the event on NBC-TV and Radio. Lane, ranked first among lightweight challengers, has won three fights this year and lost a title bout to champion Joe Brown in July.

FOOTBALL - The Notre-Dame-Pitt grid game in the NCAA eastern region will be telecast at 1:15 Saturday on NBC channels. Pitt Stadium will be the site of the contest. "Wheaties Sport Page", on WJAC at 1-1:15, will highlight small-college football. The program will deal with Slippery Rock State Teachers College and show on film the campus, students and football played at this small college, one of the hundreds that play Saturday football games without national fanfare.

Pro Football will be seen at 2:00 Sunday afternoon on CBS stations when the Detroit Lions meet the Cleveland Browns. This contest will be on WBEN and WSEE. KDKA and WFBG will carry the Steelers vs. Eagles at the same time.

BASKETBALL - The Boston Celtics visit the Detroit Pistons home court at Olympia Stadium for the NBC-TV professional basketball game Sunday at 2:30. WJAC and WICU have this one.

HOCKEY - Pro hockey pits the Chicago Black Hawks against the Detroit Red Wings on CBS channels Saturday afternoon at 2:00.

BOWLING - The men's finals of the second annual World's Invitational Match-Game Bowling Championships will be covered by the NBC-TV and Radio networks Friday, December 12, from 10 to 11 p. m., from the Chicago Coliseum. Sponsored by Gillette Cavalcade of Sports, the event will replace the weekly boxing bout on that date.

RIBBON CUTTING CEREMONY. Despite the bad weather, hundreds of Warren and area residents attended the ribbon cutting ceremony and open house at Warren General Hospital's new Jefferson Pavilion Sunday.

Pictured is the beautifully decorated reception room at the intermediate care unit. Other rooms and facilities were pictured in last week's Observer.

Among those participating in the program Sunday were Leroy Chapman, state senator; Robert O. Wilder, hospital president; Dr. J. T. Valone, president of the medical society; Joseph Williamson, administrator; and Neil Culbertson, who played an instrumental role in the project.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES M. FRANKLIN

Patricia Ann Abraham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Abraham, 248 East Main st., Youngsville, and James Milton Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Franklin, of Pittsfield, were united in marriage on November 1 in St. Luke's Roman Catholic Church, Youngsville. The ceremony was performed by Father Charles Hurley. Miss Lillian Swanson was organist. A reception was held following the wedding at the home of the bride's parents.

The newly-weds will reside at 90 Forrest ave., Jamestown, N.Y., following a honeymoon to Buffalo, Canada, and Niagara Falls.

CHRISTMAS SEAL CHAIRMAN. Dr. A. A. Marceca will head the 1958 Christmas Seal sale in Warren County.

The campaign to raise funds to fight Tuberculosis will start Nov. 14 and run through December.

Contributions to the Warren County TB Society pay for free chest x-rays in schools and industries, and also help to provide free chest x-rays to all admissions at the Warren General Hospital.

This year's chairman is a vice president of the Warren Lions Club, which sponsors the local TB Society.

GEORGE PETERSON, 75, Youngsville, died Wednesday in Warren General Hospital. Funeral arrangements are in charge of the Young Funeral Home.

MORE AMBULANCE SERVICE. The North Warren Volunteer Fire Dept. Wednesday placed a second ambulance in operation.

The organization, which started the service in 1956 when the Warren undertakers abandoned the operation, purchased this 1958 Cadillac from Doerr Bros. of Pittsburgh. Pictured are (l. to r.) Donald Sharp, president of the department; Robert Mahan, board member; Bill Coole, secretary-treasurer of the department's ambulance committee; Carmen Sample, firm representative; and Jim Nicholson, board member. Other board members are Gardner Williams and Robert Utley.

The department has two men on call 24 hours a day. It has answered over 850 calls since the start of operations with the one vehicle in October of 1956.

WELL RECEIVED by a fairly large audience was John Crosby, famous television and radio critic, where he spoke in Beaty auditorium last Thursday. With him are two teachers of the Warren high school faculty who sponsored his appearance and Joseph Passaro, right, Warren high school principal. Left to right they are Harry Spackman, Mr. Crosby, Miss Clara Spade, and Mr. Passaro.

IN OBSERVANCE of National Art Week the Warren Art Group has placed works of several members in store windows around Warren. This painting of St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Warren was by Jayne Schneck and is one of about 40 on display this week.

DRAGON BACK COLVIN racks up second half yardage in Warren's 39-19 victory over the Kane Wolves. The contest was staged on the Kane field last Saturday afternoon.

Football Round-Up

DRAGONS CORRAL WOLVES FOR FIFTH WIN OF SEASON

The Warren High School gridders scored three times in the second quarter to break up a tight ball-game and went on to topple the Kane Wolves 39 to 19 in a game at Kane last Saturday afternoon. The Dragons scored in every period, three times through the air and three times on the ground, to rack up their highest point total of the 1958 season.

Quarterback Lou Mascaro started the Dragon's scoring parade on the third play of the game when he ram-bled 87 yards for a TD. A Mascaro to Bob Haslet pass added the PAT and Warren led 7 to 0.

Kane took the ensuing kickoff and moved the ball 65 yards to tie the score. Not to be outdone, the Blue and White took the Kane kickoff and advanced the ball 70 yards with Dick Terry totting the pigskin the final seven yards to paydirt and a 13 to 7 Warren lead.

The Wolves tied the scored at 13 to 13. Then two quick Warren scores broke the back of the Wolves. Ross Kremer tossed to Terry on a 34 yard pass play and Jim Wick added the PAT to put the Dragons ahead, 20 to 13. Minutes later a Mascaro to Jack Lobdell pass play covered 32 yards for another Warren TD. Mascaro added the PAT and the Blue and White owned a 27 to 13 halftime advantage.

Kane scored their third touch-down of the game soon after second half play commenced to narrow the margin to 27 to 19.

A nine yard Kremer to Dick White pass in the third quarter boosted the scored to 33 to 19 and Mascaro carried the ball into the end zone in the final period for a 39 to 19 Warren win.

WARREN COUNTY GRID ACTIVITY THIS WEEK END

Two Warren County high school football teams, Warren and Northern Area, will close out their 1958 gridiron seasons with big home games this Saturday afternoon. The other two county schools, Sheffield and Youngsville, concluded their seasons last week end.

Warren, 5-2-1, will host Jamestown, 3-3-1, in their annual traditional joust on War Memorial Field at 1:30 p.m. Both teams own a victory over Meadville. Warren dumped the Bulldogs, 32 to 7, while Jamestown blanked the Bulldogs, 40 to 0.

Northern Area, 5 and 2, will entertain Silver Creek, 6 and 0, in a Northwestern Conference game at the Eisenhower School field. Both teams have racked up wins over Randolph, N.Y., Brocton and Westfield in Northwestern play. Silver Creek, unscored upon in their first four games, also defeated Cassadaga Valley, conqueror of Northern Area last week end.

GRID LEAGUE STANDINGS

DISTRICT 10, SECTION II -- FINAL RESULTS -- WARREN, 4 and 1; Corry, 4 and 1; Franklin, 4 and 1; Meadville, 1 and 3; Oil City, 1 and 4; and Titusville, 0 and 4.

* ALLEGHENY MOUNTAIN -- St. Marys, 3 and 0; Coudersport, 3 and 1; Port Allegany, 2 and 1; SHEFFIELD, 2 and 3; Smethport, 1 and 3; and Otto Township, 1 and 4.

* NORTHWESTERN CONFERENCE -- Silver Creek, 5 and 0; Cassadaga Valley, 5 and 1; NORTHERN AREA, 3 and 1; Westfield, 3 and 3; Randolph, 2 and 4; Brocton, 1 and 5; Ripley, 0 and 5.

AREA FOOTBALL RESULTS

WARREN COUNTY -- Warren whipped Kane, 39 to 19, and Cassadaga Valley dumped Northern Area, 21 to 6. In season finales, Port Allegany edged Sheffield, 14 to 12, and Depew, N.Y., outlasted Youngsville, 20 to 13.

* SECTION II -- Corry clipped Meadville, 37 to 14, and Franklin bumped Titusville, 26 to 14, in the final round of league play. Hickory clubbed Oil City, 34 to 19, in non-league action.

* ALLEGHENY MOUNTAIN -- League leader St. Marys blanked Smethport, 25 to 0. Portville, N.Y., edged Otto Township, 20 to 19, in non-league action.

* NORTHWESTERN CONFERENCE -- Silver Creek whipped Westfield, 34 to 19, and Randolph took Ripley, 30 to 13. Brocton dumped Forestville, 28 to 7, in a game not affecting the league standings.

* ERIE AREA -- Academy stepped over Millcreek, 26 to 7, Martins Ferry, Ohio, clobbered East, 53 to 26, New Castle whitewashed Strong Vincent, 45 to 0, and Bradford blasted Tech, 46 to 7.

* OTHERS -- Jamestown took Lockport, 27 to 7, Ridgway blanked Reynoldsville, 6 to 0, Johnsonburg bested Brockway, 20 to 6, Sharon bumped Ellwood City, 26 to 6, unbeaten Farrell rolled past Hubbard, Ohio, 41 to 0, and Philipsburg shutout Dubois, 34 to 0.

NOT EXCEPTIONAL

Perhaps some of the professionals or those who have week days to enjoy their fun are getting a large share of game, but the week end gunners with whom we have talked are not filling the pot. Squirrels and rabbits make up the list, and not many of those.

But this includes one very wet Saturday and perhaps we have talked with the wrong hunters. But we have spent a bit of time on the highways asking questions and in hopes of shooting a picture of an armful of game. We have not enjoyed such a sight.

The week end hunter gets a short deal in Pennsylvania. He is forced to do his small game shooting in late fall weather and is lucky if he enjoys two fair afternoons. If all of the Saturdays in October and November were made legal, most hunters probably wouldn't have more than four or five good afternoons of pleasant weather, and those who take their vacations in the fall would not be in the woods any longer than is the case today.

DANGEROUS CARELESSNESS

One fatality has occurred in the Warren county area and if investigating officials are correct the cause was carelessness. The fever and excitement that takes control of many hunters when a bit of game struggles for freedom often leads to actions which are extremely dangerous. A gun used as a club is not a safe weapon no matter which end you are holding. Better to let the game go free.

During the archery season Pennsylvania was fortunate to escape with no serious injuries. However, the careless handling of arrows resulted in about twenty cases of stabs and lacerations by arrows. All but one were self-inflicted, and in no case did a hunter shoot another.

DEER DETERIORATION

A little booklet sent out by the Pennsylvania Game Commission spends sixteen pages discussing "The Pennsylvania Deer Story 1958". We lack the room here to give a complete review of the booklet, but there is some contradiction which probably explains the differences which exist in this state between various authorities concerning what should be done to help the deer herd.

The booklet admits our deer as well as the range have deteriorated. A bit later it opposes a season for both antlered and antlerless deer on the basis that "the deer wouldn't stand a chance. It would really not be deer hunting but a brief period of slaughter."

In another paragraph it says we are short of trophy deer because "we have so many hunters that few male deer reach the age for growing real trophy antlers. But perhaps a more important reason is that deer over most of our real deer range do not get enough to eat to grow trophy antlers."

And again we quote, "The real problem which precedes the food problem, is obtaining public acceptance of adequate harvests. If enough deer are harvested the food problem would never appear."

(But how do they expect the public to accept a heavy harvest if the Commission opposes it?)

And in another part of the booklet, "Studies have shown that deer are healthier and raise more young on ranges where most of the annual crop is harvested. This occurs because the overwintering deer have more to eat. This also reduces overbrowsing and damage to the range which would limit future crops (deer that is). The parentheses are ours.

The booklet leaves us with the thought that the Game Commission is intimating that it sees the light and believes we should kill more deer, but it is saying the public will not approve. Why should the Game Commission wait for the public to decide what is wanted in the fields and woodlands?

We pay officials to inform themselves and because we assume they are able. It is for them to determine what is best for the herd and for the hunter.

In states where both sexes are legal game, the deer have been controlled, the sizes have increased, and all have been happier. The biologist says this is normal and best. The Commission now seems to be saying it is best but is passing the "buck" (no joke) to the nimrods.

You can obtain this booklet, which is a reprint of a story that appeared in the October Game News by writing to the Game Commission in Harrisburg. There is no charge.

THERE ARE BIG ONES

Meanwhile, back in the forests, there are some big ones left to shoot, though the best spot to find a really large rack and a fair chunk meat on the hoof is in the farm areas where the feeding is good...as any farmer will attest.

In Berks county a road-killed deer recently was weighed in at 240 pounds. Dressed, the deer went 210. With Pennsylvania male deer averaging less than 130 pounds you can see this was quite an animal by today's standards. It had been feeding in a farm area.

However, there are a few large deer in our own county and not in strictly farm country. There is one group of very large animals which we have seen several times.

Where? We wouldn't want to spoil your fun by taking the "hunting" out of the sport.

BEATY FOOTBALL

The Beaty Junior High School football team closed out their Chalko Valley Junior High School football league season with a 28 to 6 win over Lincoln of Jamestown last Thursday afternoon. The victory gave Beaty second place in the final league standings.

Beaty scored on runs of 10 yards and 40 yards by Ron Bonavita and runs of 20 yards and 40 yards by Jim Manning. Manning's 40 yard scoring run occurred when Bonavita intercepted a Lincoln aerial and lateralled to Manning.

Bonavita accounted for two PAT's and Rog Colvin and Miller annexed the other PAT's.

The final loop standings are Jefferson, 5 and 0; Beaty, 4 and 1; Washington, 3 and 2; Lincoln, 2 and 3; Southwestern, 1 and 4; and Falconer, 0 and 5.

BEARDED CAGERS

The bewhiskered House of David basketball team will appear in Jamestown, N.Y., on Saturday night, November 29, when they will play the Jamestown YMCA varsity on the Jamestown High School floor. Ron Winterburn, a Jamestown cager, is playing his third year with the House of David team this season.

TRY COLLEGE BASKETBALL

Two members of the 1957-58 Warren High School basketball team will get their first taste of collegiate basketball this season. They are Jack Karkosky at Slippery Rock State Teachers College and Nick Monroe at Colgate.

FIFTEEN SENIORS PLAY FINAL GAME ON SATURDAY

Fifteen members of Coach Ralph

TIED IT UP. This Kane back had a wide hole to charge through in the first quarter of Saturday's game. The score made it 7-7, but the Warren Dragons moved on to a 39-19 victory.

Veight's Warren High School football team will don their high school football togs for the final time next Saturday for the Warren-Jamestown classic.

RIFLE BOYS WANTED

Officers Bernie Winegardner and Roger Theline of the Warren police department are looking for boys who want to learn how to fire a rifle. Instructions will be given each Saturday morning at nine o'clock in the State Armory on Hickory st. Those interested may register for the club at the YMCA.

BOUNTY HUNTERS

The bounty collectors in Warren county collected $200 during September, of which most was earned by bringing home 43 red foxes. There were seven greys and no great horned owls.

WARREN CHAPTER SPEBSQSA

The Warren Chapter SPEBSQSA last Saturday won the Seneca Land District regional chorus contest for the third consecutive year and is now entitled to enter the international chorus contest in Chicago, Ill., next July.

In addition to the laurels won by the chorus at Geneva, "The Dominotes" were proclaimed Seneca Land district champions and "The Tunatics" were named third place medalists.

"The Dominotes", made up of Carl Johnson, Bob Dietsch, Howard Johnson, and James Cruickshank, are now eligible for the regional contest at Horseheads, N.Y., in May. "The Tunatics", also eligible, features the voices of Ad Scholes, Virgil Albaugh, MacSears, and John Swick.

THE "PRICE IS RIGHT" contest held recently by Montgomery Ward Co. was won by Mrs. Joan Carlson, 2037 1/2 Pennsylvania ave., E., Warren. She had the winning guess the articles on display at the Ward store during their Sandran promotion.

The winner estimated 109 square feet in the roll of Sandran on display, and the actual figure was 109.25 square feet.

Mrs. Carlson won the roll of Sandran, a lady's dress, coat, toaster, and occasional chair.
